The Content Analyze of Rural Citizenship Rights in the Iranian five years development plans

A. R. Eftekhari¹*, L. Dayyani², E. Eftekhari³

1- Professor of geography and rural planning, Tarbiat Modares University, Tehran, Iran.
2- Phd student of geography and rural planning, Tarbiat Modares University, Tehran, Iran.
3- Phd student of international rights, Azad University, Iran.

Received: 26/Aug/2015 Accepted: 10/April/2016

Abstract:
In recent decade, sustainable development emmbeded development to right (citizenship right & environmental, social, economic right. In reality, sustainable development paradigm attempt with new approach to the society & environment (systematic, integrated & holistic approach).

In this approach three systems (environmental, social & economic) interpreted with framework of development to right.

In this paper, the strategic question is"what is rights view in the five years development plans of IR of Iran to rural citizenship & environmental?”. The method is descriptive & explanation with documentary & content analysis.

The result indicated that in the plans & special in two plans (purposes, policies and actions) the citizenship rights of rural regions is not important (very few).Whit these results we can say the development to right in planning & management thought were weakness in national development plans.

Keywords: citizenship rights, development plans, rural, Iran.

*Corresponding Author's E-mail: eftekhaa@modares.ac.ir